Meet the team!

Welcome to our Pierre Weegels House!

We are Rian and Dorien, the proud hosts of the Pierre Weegels House. This unique vacation home, together with the Fatima House (the former Fatima church), is part of a monument. By renting out the rectory as a vacation home, we can maintain this fantastic monument and give the former church a worthy new purpose. We are delighted to have you here. We wish you a very pleasant stay.

There's a good chance you'll bump into one of our top staff members when you arrive or depart. Piet is one of them. Piet will be your neighbor during your stay. As befits a good neighbor in Limburg, he is there for you whenever you need him. He was born and raised in Weert and is a volunteer at the Fatima House. Fancy a tour of the former church? Then Piet is your man.

About Fatima Huis

About Fatima Huis

The former Fatima Church, now Fatima House, was designed by Weert architect Pierre Weegels. He gave this building a unique fan-shaped floor plan. This created a large space without columns, giving church visitors an unobstructed view of the altar. The entire interior was specially designed for this curved space. The architecture is complemented by a number of works of art. The chancel features the largest marble mosaic in the Netherlands (255 m²). The artwork, consisting of 350,000 stones, is by Hugo Brouwer. He also designed the first entirely abstract stained glass windows for this building. The wood carvings and ceramics are by Stramproy artist Cor van Geleuken. Another special feature is the large stained glass window by Charles Eijck, The Solar Miracle of Fatima.

The church was consecrated on March 25, 1955. Over the years, church attendance declined, and on January 10, 2010, it was announced that the Fatima Church would be closing. In 2011, the church was deconsecrated. In the years that followed, the church stood empty and was saved from demolition in 2014 by a private initiative. The Hendrix family from Ospel considers itself fortunate to be able to act as stewards for this beautiful piece of heritage. Since 2015, the building has been used for social purposes, mainly social, educational, and cultural activities. In 2019, the church was reconsecrated and once again serves as a church for the Christian Eritrean Orthodox Tewahedo Community. In this way, the church has been given a worthy new purpose.

De Fatima Chapel

The Fatima Chapel is kept open to the public by a loyal group of volunteers called "The Apostles of Fatima." From May to October, visitors can light a candle every Thursday and Saturday between 2:00 p.m. and 4:00 p.m., when the church is open to visitors.

Church bells

The bells of Fatima House ring every day at 12:00 p.m. and 6:00 p.m. for the Angelus..

Eritrean Orthodox Tewahedo Church

Eritrea is ruled by one of the most oppressive regimes in the world. There have been no national elections since 1993. Criticism of the government is prohibited and there is no freedom of the press. The government even arrests anyone it considers to be an opponent. Religious minorities are also persecuted. But there is another reason why many Eritreans leave their country: unpaid military service for men and women, which can even last a lifetime. This leaves them with few prospects for the future. Many Eritreans therefore flee to Europe via Sudan and Libya. It is a dangerous journey, and many are kidnapped and abused. In exchange for their freedom, family members in Europe are blackmailed into paying ransom. Because of the situation in Eritrea, almost all Eritreans are granted residence status in the Netherlands. Almost all Eritrean refugees in the Netherlands are Christian, mostly Eritrean Orthodox. A smaller proportion are Evangelical or Protestant. Almost all Eritreans attend church weekly. The Eritrean Orthodox Tewahedo Church is one of the Oriental Orthodox churches. The church is located in Eritrea. The Eritrean Orthodox Tewahedo Church is closely related to the Coptic Orthodox Church, from which it originally descended. The name Tewahedo stands for a being that forms a unity. The liturgical language of the Eritrean Orthodox Church is Ge'ez. Mass is an important part of the liturgy. The church building is sacred ground for the Oriental Orthodox Churches and can therefore only be used for worship. These churches have implemented many Old Testament customs. For example, each church has a tabernacle (a copy of the ark from the Old Testament) that is located in a separate enclosed space within the church: the Holy of Holies, which is only accessible to the priest. Shoes must be removed in the church. There are no chairs in the church, only low benches. Prayers are said while kneeling on the rugs that lie in the church. Long white prayer robes are worn during services. Only believers are allowed to enter the church (holy ground).

Eritrean Orthodox Tewahedo Church in our Fatima House

Starting Sunday, July 7, 2019, the Eritrean Oriental Orthodox Tewahedo Church will hold its church services at the Fatima House in Weert. The weekly celebration takes place every Sunday from 6:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

All interested parties are welcome to attend services.
